IAC and Comcell bring leading-edge switchboard technology to Australia

Siemens Industrial Automation & Control and Comcell Switchboards signed a licence agreement for the Sivacon switchboard technology. "This marks a significant development for Siemens as it enables us to provide the Australian market with type-tested switchboards up to 6300A," said Bill Mundy, Product Manager Power Distribution. The Siemens Sivacon switchboard technology meets all Australian standards, safety, communication capability on entire plants and offers a high level of cost-effectiveness to our customers.

Congratulations to Thomas Bader and his team for bringing this important project on board.
